INTERNATIONAL SCHOOLS IN BARCELONA

PRACTICAL GUIDE
FOR NEWCOMERS WITH CHILDREN

THE PURPOSE OF THIS GUIDE

Barcelona is a captivating, cosmopolitan, Mediterranean city. Barcelona combines beauty, an enviable climate, tourist attractions and a business-friendly side that welcomes you with open arms. It should come as no surprise that Barcelona is among the top European cities chosen by international companies.

Many of the nearly thirty million people that visit us each year do so for professional reasons. Some decide to make Barcelona their home, and those with children are faced with the challenge of finding the right school for their family.

Deciding on a school for your child could depend on their age, previous educational background, and languages spoken; how long you plan to live in Barcelona, and finances, among many other factors.

Those with very young children can often see the advantage of having their children attend local schools for a few years. Many families that plan on settling in Barcelona opt to enrol their children in a school that follows the local curriculum, but also offers quality foreign-language teaching.

For families that relocate with school-age children, finding an international school that follows the same curriculum as their home country can be the most important aspect. The languages spoken at home or during previous schooling will also affect their decision.

Cost can also be a decisive factor, and finding the perfect school might condition where you want to live.

As each family is different, each family will make choices reflecting its own priorities and preferences.

This guide provides key information in order to make this decision-making process as simple as possible.

The International Schools in Barcelona guide focuses on international schools in the Barcelona area and features concise, practical information about international schools. It also explains how the local school system works.

In Barcelona and the surrounding metropolitan area there is a wide variety of quality options in terms of schooling, including the more than 40 schools featured here that could be of special interest to the expat community. Having international schools is one of the keys to attracting foreign talent and clearly an asset that helps strengthen the Barcelona brand.

Primary and secondary education constitute an investment in society's future. Education is a key tool for economic development and competitiveness, and plays an essential role in social cohesion and the integration of residents from around the world.

OVERVIEW OF THE LOCAL EDUCATION SYSTEM

In Catalonia and Spain, compulsory education spans the ten years from 6 to 16 years of age. A child's year of birth, taken as the calendar year in which they were born, will indicate which grade they will attend, with the cut-off being December 31.

The local education system is broken down into stages, levels and years, or grades, of learning.

The city of Barcelona has a strong network of Municipal Nursery Schools, called Escoles Bressol, which care for children 4 months to 3 years old. There are also many private childcare centres.

While not obligatory, the vast majority of local children attend preschool starting the year they turn 3 years old, until they are 6. Public preschool is free and universal and often referred to popularly as Parvulari or Escola Infantil.

Primary school (Escola Primària) lasts six years and runs from Primer (First grade) to Sisè (Sixth grade).

At the age of 12, children start high school (institut), which is a four-year course of compulsory secondary education called ESO (Educació Secundària Obligatòria).

Those who finish compulsory education at 16 may either opt for the two-year pre-university course known locally as Batxillerat or for Basic Vocational Training (Formació Professional de Grau Mitjà).

The appendix to this guide provides a more detailed description of the Catalan public education system.

TYPES OF SCHOOLS

In Barcelona, as in the rest of Catalonia, there are three main types of schools to become familiar with:

PUBLIC SCHOOL (ESCOLA PÚBLICA)

Publicly funded, tuition-free, secular, and owned by the government. The state curriculum is approved by the Catalan Ministry of Education. State-organised enrolment is in spring and is based on your catchment area and other factors. See the Appendix for more information.

STATE-SUBSIDISED PRIVATE SCHOOL (ESCOLA CONCERTADA)

These schools are privately owned and run, and may be secular or non-secular. Tuition is subsidised by the government. The curriculum is also approved by the Catalan Ministry of Education and these schools share the state-organised enrolment process with the public schools.

PRIVATE SCHOOL (ESCOLA PRIVADA)

While the curriculum (aims, contents, teaching methods and assessment criteria, etc.) must be approved by the Catalan Ministry of Education, these schools do not receive government subsidies and the cost of schooling is covered in full by families.

In Barcelona, all public schools are owned by public bodies – either the Government of Catalonia or the Barcelona City Council – and they are run by the Barcelona Education Consortium (Consorti d'Educació de Barcelona).

State-subsidised private schools (escola concertada) voluntarily participate in the government subsidy programme by complying with established requirements to receive subsidies from the Catalan government that cover the cost of basic educational needs. These schools do not charge tuition, but any other expenses beyond the scope of compulsory education are paid for by parents on a voluntary basis. In practice, this means a monthly cost of between €80 and €500, depending on the school.

Both types of schools (pública and concertada) follow the same pre-enrolment and enrolment criteria and procedures. All of the schools that belong to the Catalan Education Service follow the same curriculum because they are governed by the same legislation. However, each school may employ its own methodology and specific educational programme.

Purely private schools use their own, separate enrolment criteria and procedures which you will need to learn about on a case-by-case basis. For the schools featured in the guide, you will find the address, website, phone number and contact information listed on each school's datasheet.

There is a registry of all schools that lists all the centres in the city, whether publicly or privately owned, that offer official schooling.

Catalan registry of schools:

(available in Catalan)

The Barcelona Education Consortium, located at Plaça d'Urquinaona 6, offers personalised information services in several languages. Consult the website → www.edubcn.cat for relevant calendars for enrolment periods, a registry of schools in Barcelona, and other useful information for residents. (website in Catalan)

For schools outside of Barcelona, you can contact either the school, the city council, or one of the appointed offices of the Catalan Ministry of Education.

INTERNATIONAL SCHOOLS IN THE BARCELONA AREA

What do we mean by international schools? An international school is one that uses a curriculum or language of instruction different from that of the local community. Most of these schools are privately owned and operated, meaning that financial issues must be taken into consideration.

CURRICULUM AND LANGUAGE

Let's take a look at what differentiates international schools:

LOCAL CURRICULUM, FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Many schools follow the local curriculum, school calendar and holidays but use a foreign language of instruction, either in whole or in part. These schools are generally private, but may be state-subsidised, which will greatly affect the fee schedule.

Students from these schools are both local children looking for an intercultural environment and a focus on foreign language, and the children of expats.

FOREIGN CURRICULUM, FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The schools that teach a foreign curriculum also use a foreign language of instruction. Some schools are sponsored by foreign governments and give preference to citizens of that country, or students who have previously studied in that country, but are open to all. Other schools are not associated with any government, but simply follow the curriculum of a different country and have been certified by the appropriate body. Other schools have negotiated agreements with local government to offer students double certificates upon graduation.

Barcelona currently has schools that follow the British, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Swiss and U.S. education systems, among others.

Some of these schools opt to transition students to the local system for secondary education to facilitate acceptance at Catalan and Spanish universities. Others continue with the foreign curriculum and their students apply to universities in their home country.

In Barcelona and its metropolitan area there are over 40 international schools. The great majority are purely private, which can be an expensive option, compared with public schools, which are paid for in full with public funds.

The international schools in the city of Barcelona are located mostly in the Sarrià-Sant Gervasi and Les Corts neighbourhoods. There are also quite a few international schools in the surrounding metropolitan area with significant expat communities in cities such as Sant Cugat, Sitges and La Garriga, to name a few.

CERTIFICATES

The international schools offer different types of certificates:

INTERNATIONAL BACCALAUREATE

In 1968 a Geneva-based not-for-profit organisation created a diploma for students that travelled a lot internationally during their teen years. Today, the programme has four top-quality, highly demanding educational programmes for students aged 3 to 19 all over the world. For nearly 50 years, the IB programmes have been renowned for their top-notch academic level and rigour. There are currently more than one million IB students at around 4,500 schools in 148 countries.

Students that successfully finish the IB programme are eligible to apply to universities all over the world. There are currently 12 schools in the Barcelona area that offer the IB, one of which is a public high school. The language of instruction at IB schools varies.

BATXIBAC

In 2010 the Catalan Ministry of Education and the French Ministry of Education created the Batxibac (Catalan Batxillerat plus French Baccalauréat) programme. The programme follows a mixed curriculum with one-third of the classroom hours taught in French, following the French curriculum, plus classes in French language, literature and history. In order to be accepted in the Batxibac programme, students must prove they have basic French, equivalent to B1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

Students that successfully complete this curriculum earn the Catalan Batxillerat certificate and then, upon passing an additional external exam in French, the French Baccalauréat.

This option is widely available at both public and private schools.

BISA

The Barcelona International Schools Association (BISA) was formed in 2012 so that the international education community could benefit from sharing information, collaborating on projects, and engaging in on-going conversations with each other and leaders in the Barcelona community.

- Language of instruction: Japanese

The Japanese School of Barcelona follows the curriculum and instructional period of schools in Japan. The Japanese Ministry of Education oversees the quality of teaching and the educational and management team. The academic programme is divided into two levels. “Shogakko” – from 7 to 12 years of age- and the “chugakko” – up to 15 years age, which is the finishing age of obligatory education in Japan. Japanese is the language of instruction, and the teaching of contemporary subjects is complemented with traditional studies such as calligraphy, Japanese cooking or practices of the tea ceremony. In 2015, the school celebrated its 30th anniversary.

John Talabot is a secular and multicultural state-subsidised private school that offers a solid education in academic, cultural and human values, based on the curriculum established by the Generalitat of Catalonia and with an exclusive project in the English language that is backed up by 40 years of experience. Enrolment spans 3-16 years of age. Students experience a cultural richness that allows them to grow and learn in an international environment where English, Spanish and Catalan are used in different subjects. All English language teachers are native speakers. There is only one group per grade, which allows faculty to get to know each and every one of their students and offer personalised attention. Teachers contribute to each child's development as a person and throughout their entire school life, motivating them to be excited about learning, teaching them to think, to decide, to talk things out and to be conscious of their own abilities. At John Talabot, students strive for academic excellence and achieve excellent results. Students experience the rewards of trying their best from an early age.

COL·LEGI
Mary Ward Barcelona

The Mary Ward School of Barcelona, also familiarly known as the “German nuns”, belongs to a group of Christian Schools of Catalonia.

It is a small school with one class per age group, and a notable involvement and commitment by the entire educational community. Classes are taught to students from the age of one (P1) to 16 years old (4th ESO). The school's first foreign language is German, which starts in P1. English is introduced in the 5th grade, and students reach high proficiency as proven by the results of standardised CB testing (Competències Bàsiques).

Secondary students (ESO) can choose German or English as their first foreign language. New students are offered free German language lessons if they do not speak German.

Outstanding projects: Exchange programmes with Germany, Reading buddies, Maths programme (EntusiasMAT) starting in P3.

Founded in 1859, École Française Ferdinand de Lesseps is the oldest French educational establishment on the Iberian Peninsula. Enriched by its long history, the school continues to pursue its academic mission and promote both local and European culture.

580 children attend the French School Ferdinand de Lesseps starting from the first year of nursery school (3 years old) up to fifth grade (11 years old). It is a private institution, part of the AEFÉ network (Agency for French Education Abroad). In accordance with the agreement signed with the AEFÉ, the school strictly adheres to the syllabus set by the French Ministry of Education. In addition, both Spanish and Catalan are included in the school curriculum.

Pupils who then wish to pursue their education can do so by attending the French Lycée in Barcelona (LFB), also a member of the AEFÉ school network.

English Academy Santa Claus (EASC) is a trilingual school for Early Years and Primary Education. The school is characterised by high-quality teaching and individualised attention. It has just one classroom per grade, allowing for personalised education and close student supervision. The goal is to ensure that all students discover their strengths and gain a solid base to learn how to confront future challenges. At EASC, English, Spanish and Catalan are used equally. In the Early Years there is a total immersion in the English language. In Primary, the school follows the official, local curriculum, maintaining a good level of English. The students successfully pass official English exams and are capable of communicating fluently in English, Catalan and Spanish, both orally and in written form. EASC is proud of its work over the past 50 years and continues to be a strong and innovative educational project, which is both accessible and affordable for families. It is a plural school open to anyone interested in a good academic education together with values.

ES International School

Since 1999, ES International School has been offering an American elementary, middle, and senior high school programme. The school's endeavour is to provide students with an international experience that broadens their horizons, creates a positive learning experience, and affords each student the opportunity to excel both academically and athletically. All students receive individual attention, close academic guidance and personal counselling, in order to ensure both the acquisition of academic competencies and the development of individual strengths and talents. The student population is very international, and the predominant language on campus is English. ES International School follows the American system and operates very much like any elementary, middle or senior high school in the United States but with an important emphasis on promoting the relationship between academics and athletics. Sports are an essential part of the curriculum.

Outstanding projects: Use of electronic texts and BYOD programme (Bring your own device) option of AP classes (Advanced Placement), Emerging Scholars Program for gifted students.

Kensington School was founded in 1966 to provide a British education to the international community in Barcelona. Its current size is 250 students between the ages of 3 and 18.

The school is academically non-selective, it achieves remarkable examination results at both GCSE and Advanced Level. This is due to the dedication of its teachers and the small class sizes which allow pupils of all abilities to develop their full potential. Apart from Spanish and French, all lessons are taught in English and follow the National Curriculum of England and Wales. Fluency in English is important to access the curriculum so support is provided for those needing additional help to improve their linguistic capacity. Kensington School graduates gain access to prestigious universities all around the world with the majority reading for degrees in the United Kingdom.

The school encourages a friendly atmosphere and promotes a common sense approach to behaviour and learning, thereby stimulating motivation for study. The aim is to achieve a high level of understanding, independent reasoning and cooperation between staff and pupils.

The official name of the school is “Istituto Italiano Statale Comprensivo di Scuola primaria e di Scuola secondaria di 1º e di 2º grado”, but it is also known as the Scuola Italiana di Barcellona. “Maria Montessori” is the name of the primary school, and enrolment is for students in Scuola Infantile (3-5 years old) and Scuola Primaria (6-10 years old). From 11 to 13 years old, the children attend the “E. Amaldi Scuola secondaria di 1º grado”, middle school located on the same campus as the primary school. 14 to 17-year-old students attend the secondary school “Liceo Scientifico E. Amaldi” at a different location. Italian is the language of instruction, and total enrolment is just above 600 pupils. Spanish, Catalan and English languages are also taught. The qualifications are recognised by the Spanish education system.

International
Catalunya

SEK Catalunya International School is a trilingual school (English, Spanish and Catalan). It is located in La Garriga, at the base of the Montseny Natural Park, just 30 minutes from Barcelona. It is the only school in Catalonia which offers all three International Baccalaureate programmes (PEP, MYP and Diploma). For the older students, the IB Diploma is independent from the Spanish Batxillerat. Students can decide which path best fits their needs, without having to necessarily do both at the same time. SEK Catalunya promotes a quality international education based on active learning. Students are engaged in the learning process because they learn by doing, by experimenting, by investigation, by their own initiative and by working in groups. This formula is designed to guarantee students are motivated and develop competencies for real life, training them in skills such as entrepreneurship, creativity, communication abilities, empathy and open-mindedness.

Outstanding projects: Maker Space Project (Learn by Doing and “Maker” mentality), Music School affiliated with the Liceu Conservatory in Barcelona, Outdoor Education Project (Duke of Edinburgh International Award).

ST. GEORGE'S
A British EDUCATION | Barcelona

St. George's School Barcelona is a British school for children from 2 to 18 years of age. St. George's Schools are fully authorised by the regional government and are members of the prestigious National Association of British Schools in Spain. The school fully adheres to the British national curriculum with the oldest children taking iGCSEs and then A levels. All the studies are validated so students can enter into Spanish, British or International universities around the world. St. George's Group has already gained a reputation for not only having high educational standards but also for having motivated and happy children. Pupils learn effectively, through thinking, feeling and doing. It is important that students learn how to analyse, solve problems, think creatively and use their imaginations. Staff also focus on teaching them to have an emotional education, learning to explore and understand their own feelings and those of others, also to have an understanding of and empathy for the diverse cultures throughout the world. The school ethos is based on the 5 school values: respect, responsibility, kindness, fairness and personal best.

The quality of its teaching is based on a pedagogy based on collaboration and teamwork in small groups, and on-going evaluation. The learning process takes place in four languages: German, English, Spanish and Catalan. New technologies are a tool used in the students' education, as are sports and other activities.

The school's mission is marked by a humanistic approach, which essentially determines the educational work (Humanistic and Positive Psychology). Above and beyond languages, Zürich Schule equips students with a range of skills such as leadership, communication and technology.

Outstanding projects: Prominence of new technologies throughout all stages, study techniques, special focus on reading comprehension, scientific project.

APPENDIX:

The local education system

OVERVIEW

The national education system follows a decentralised model in which decision making power is shared among the Spanish government, the autonomous communities, local administrations and schools.

The State, through the Spanish Ministry of Education, works to ensure the education system is homogenous and guarantees equal access for all, exercising everyone's basic right to education.

The Government of Catalonia has the power to develop national laws and regulate non-essential elements of the education system, as well as executive and management competencies over the system in its territory.

The Barcelona City Council collaborates with the Government of Catalonia to create, build and maintain public centres of learning, as well as organising complementary activities and services.

Given the importance of Barcelona and its status as the capital of Catalonia, a special regime was established for the city. Thanks to this regime the Barcelona Education Consortium was created as a public body jointly promoted by the Government of Catalonia and the Barcelona City Council. It is a decentralised joint-management tool for cooperation in improving management of the education services available in the city of Barcelona.

THE PUBLIC EDUCATION SYSTEM

In Catalonia, there is a wide offer of public, and state-subsidised private schools covering all educational stages, both non-compulsory and compulsory (6-16 years old).

PRESCHOOL (EDUCACIÓ INFANTIL)

The city of Barcelona has a strong network of Municipal Nursery Schools, called Escoles Bressol, which care for children 4 months to 3 years old. There are also many private childcare centres.

For more information:

While not obligatory, the vast majority of local children attend preschool starting the year they turn 3 years old and in fact, most preschools share premises with primary schools.

Public preschool is free and universal and often referred to popularly as Parvulari or Escola Infantil. This cycle lasts three years, called P3, P4 and P5. Pre-enrolment is required. The outcome depends on a lottery system based on your catchment district, your preferences, and your child's particular circumstances.

PRIMARY EDUCATION (EDUCACIÓ PRIMÀRIA)

Primary education is compulsory and free of charge. It is comprised of three two-year levels (initial, intermediate and upper) for students between 6 and 12 years of age. In general, students begin primary education the same calendar year that they turn 6.

COMPULSORY SECONDARY EDUCATION (EDUCACIÓ SECUNDÀRIA OBLIGATÒRIA - ESO)

Compulsory secondary education (ESO) is compulsory and free of charge, completing basic education. It is made up of four years of schooling for students between 12 and 16 years old. However, students have the right to stay in the school until turning 18. There are curricular diversification programmes, from the third year on, geared towards receiving the ESO certification (GESO). This certificate allows students to enrol in post-compulsory secondary education programmes.

UPPER SECONDARY EDUCATION (BATXILLERAT)

Upper secondary education is one of the post-compulsory education programmes available to graduates of ESO. It is comprised of two years of pre-university schooling in one of three areas: arts, science & technology, or humanities & social sciences. Successful completion of the Baccalaureate (Batxillerat) allows students to enter higher education programmes such as university or advanced vocational training programmes (Formació Professional de Grau Superior).

These studies are not compulsory, and therefore no longer state subsidised at non-public schools. Tuition costs should be taken into account.

Most public schools offer both ESO and Batxillerat on the same premises. Public Batxillerat programmes do not charge tuition.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING (FORMACIÓ PROFESSIONAL)

Vocational training is broken down into basic (grau mitjà) and advanced studies (grau superior), which offer vocational qualifications and advanced vocational qualifications, respectively.

In order to be eligible for basic vocational training, students must have graduated from compulsory secondary education (GESO). Access to advanced vocational training requires the Batxillerat diploma. Students without the aforementioned academic qualifications may also gain access to these training programmes through an entrance exam (candidates must be over 17 for the basic level and over 19 for advanced training, or 18 if they have a related vocational qualification).

These schools are not state-subsidised, and there are public and private schools that offer a wide variety of courses.

UNIVERSITY (ENSENYAMENTS UNIVERSITARIS)

Students must pass an entrance exam to access these studies or have a vocational qualification or an equivalent academic level.

If students come from another educational system they should familiarise themselves with the process to have their certificate or diploma recognised by the government (homologació).

SCHOOL CALENDAR

The school year runs from September to June and is divided into three terms:

- Autumn term runs from September to the Christmas holidays, which last approximately 15 days.
- Winter term begins after the Epiphany in January and lasts until Easter holidays (March/April), which are approximately 10 days.
- Spring term starts after Easter and finishes towards the end of June. Summer holidays last through the first or second week of September.

For Baccalaureate students taking university entrance exams (Prova d'Accés a la Universitat - PAU), the school year finishes in May, leaving them approximately one month to prepare for exams.

FINDING OUT ABOUT LOCAL SCHOOLS

While all the public and state-subsidised private schools (escola concertada) have the same main curriculum approved by the Catalan Ministry of Education in accordance with the Spanish Education Act (LOE), individual schools will vary in terms of their educational approach, specialised projects related to science, language arts, or maths, and the after-school activities available.

To learn more about the schooling options available to you, you should attend the open houses that most schools offer in February or March for incoming families. You can phone them or check their websites or the school notice board to find out the details. On open house day, you can tour the buildings, speak with teachers and administrators, and ask any pertinent questions.

Besides visiting the premises, most schools have an official website, blog or Twitter account where you can find more day-to-day information about the school. There might be photographs of holiday shows, or poetry readings, or the latest sleep-away camp experience (colònies). The volunteer parent associations at many schools are quite active, and are a good source of information on school life, oftentimes with their own websites. These are typically called AFA (Associació de Famílies d'Alumnes) or AMPA (Associació de Mares i Pares de Alumnes). These associations often organise textbook sales, or sports uniform sales, or extra-curricular activities as well as fundraise for the school.

HOW TO APPLY TO A LOCAL SCHOOL

Pre-enrolment falls in early spring, though exact dates vary. Enrolment is necessary at the start of each educational cycle (at ages 0, 3, 6, 12, 16) or upon moving. Barcelona does not have school districts, as the whole city is considered one district, but your home address is used to indicate which schools fall into your catchment area.

When enrolling children in the Education System of Catalonia, families may select the school of their choice. For completely private schools, you should contact each school for more information. The information that follows is pertinent for public and state-subsidised private schools.

“AREA OF INFLUENCE”

If your child is going to apply for a spot at a local school, your first step is finding out which schools are in your “area of influence”, as it is referred to locally.

This area, similar to a catchment area, is determined by the home address you and your child have used in the population register (empadronament). You will have some public schools and some state-subsidised private schools to choose from. You can also apply for a school outside of your “area of influence” but with fewer points than most other applicants, it might be more difficult to get in.

ALLOCATION OF SPOTS THROUGH A POINT SYSTEM

Spots in each school are allocated according to a point system, which at the time of publication is the following:

SPECIFIC CRITERIA:

Continuation in the same school:

- Siblings that attend the same school: 40 points
- Parents who work at the school: 40 points

Proximity:

- to the child’s permanent residence: 30 points
- OR
- to the parent’s workplace: 20 points

Income: Beneficiary of minimum income subsidy (Renda Mínima d’Inserció): 10 points

Disability: Child, parent or sibling with a disability: 10 points

COMPLEMENTARY CRITERIA:

- Large families or single-parent family:
15 points
- Child with chronic illness (including celiac disease): 10 points
- Parents are alumni of the school:
5 points

PRE-ENROLMENT CALENDAR AND FORMALITIES

Pre-enrolment begins in early spring (March-April) for the school year starting in September but always check the official dates as they vary each year. Families must be aware of the deadlines.

Once you have made your decision, you must fill out a pre-enrolment form (sol·licitud de preinscripció) which can be found online as well as at all schools. On this form, you will be asked to fill out your preferences, ranking the public and state-subsidised private schools (escola concertada) you have selected. You may choose up to 4 schools.

There is no guarantee your child will get into your first choice, or in fact any of the schools you have initially chosen, although in practice most children secure a spot at a school on their list.

The pre-enrolment form should be submitted to the school you have listed as your first preference. It is strongly recommended to request a dated, stamped copy of the application for your own records.

The following documents must be submitted with the pre-enrolment form:

- Original and photocopy of the Family Record Book (Llibre de Família) or other documents proving family relationship.
- Original and photocopy of DNI, NIE (residency card), passport or other form of identification for parents or guardian, including EU citizens' state ID
- Proof of family residence (certificat d'empadronament)
- Original and photocopy of the child's DNI or alternative document if over 14 years old
- Original and photocopy of the child's health card (TSI-Targeta Sanitària Individual)
- Supporting documentation for classification criteria if applicable for points (i.e.- business address, financial circumstances, disability certificate, medical report)

The original documentation will be returned once compared with the copy submitted.

ANNOUNCEMENTS AND APPEALS

The list of applicants by points will be published on the noticeboard of the school, and families should check that the assigned point value is correct and file an appeal if necessary. Final admission lists are then published at the school you have been assigned to, and you must formalise your child's registration at that school, which will provide the information needed for all new students.

If necessary, a waiting list for those not admitted directly will be created, and in case of oversubscription, you will be assigned a spot at another school.

The website of the Consorci d'Educació, or Barcelona Education Consortium, has information online or you can visit their offices for a private meeting. The website is in Catalan only. For those outside Barcelona, each school will inform you how to proceed.

ENROLMENT

To secure the spot assigned, families must formalise the child's registration at that school during the established period and provide any documents not submitted in the pre-enrolment process. Otherwise, the school will understand the student has rejected the spot.

Each school will meet with new families and provide the information needed for all new students.

For other cities in the metropolitan area, your local city council will direct you to the correct office.

OFFICIAL LANGUAGES

Catalan is the language of Catalonia. It is co-official along with Spanish, which is the official language throughout Spain.

Catalan is normally used as the language of instruction for learning in the education system in Catalonia in both public and state-subsidised private schools. Upon completion of compulsory schooling, students are fluent in both official languages (Spanish and Catalan) and have adequate knowledge of at least one foreign language. This language is generally English but in some schools it may be French or German. Many schools offer courses in more than one foreign language. Public schools and state-subsidised private schools must draft a language project establishing the framework for the languages used in the school.

Students joining the education system who don't speak either of the official languages have the right to receive special language support. Schools must provide newly arrived students with a personalised welcome and, specifically, language services that allow them to begin learning Catalan.
